

“Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome: Nuts and Bolts”

PRESENTED BY.....

Dr. Bonny Whalen

This workshop provides practical information to help you promote optimal care of infants at risk for Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome (NAS) including:

- creating supportive environments for infants and their families
- increasing consistency in monitoring and scoring for NAS
- educating parents how to best care for their at-risk newborns
- instituting appropriate medical care for infants born to mothers with opioid dependency

Dr. Bonny Whalen is the Medical Director of the Newborn Nursery at the Children’s Hospital at Dartmouth and Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center, and an Assistant Professor of Pediatrics at Dartmouth Medical School. Dr. Whalen is a strong advocate for the promotion of health and optimal beginnings for newborns and their families. Her areas of interest include caring for the infant at Risk for Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome, increasing hospital support for breastfeeding, care of the Late Preterm Infant and prevention and management of neonatal jaundice.
